

Date: June 30, 2015

Competition: #15 – 21A

APPLICATIONS ARE INVITED FOR THE FOLLOWING SESSIONAL INSTRUCTOR POSITIONS

Position: Sessional Instructor – Fire & Safety Division- Fire Fighter Programs

School: School of Public Safety- Fire & Safety Division

Reporting To: Dave Wallack – Program Manager, Fire & Safety Division

The Justice Institute of British Columbia (JIBC) is a dynamic, degree-granting post-secondary learning organization whose unique provincial mandate encompasses education, training and the development of professional standards of practice in justice, public safety and human services.

Summary:

The Fire & Safety Division (FSD) delivers superior Public Safety Training using experienced and subject matter expert Industry Specialists/Fire Fighters who instruct/teach/evaluate in a variety of firefighting programs. Our instructors facilitate course delivery to the public, industry as well as to volunteer, composite, and career fire departments throughout British Columbia.

The FSD requires additional subject matter expert Industry Specialists/Firefighters that are able to work as sessional instructors/faculty. The FSD recognizes the need to increase the number of instructors in a number of programs. The successful candidates will better reflect the “diversity” of the fire service as well as better represent the JIBC-FSD in the province as regional instructors.

The FSD is presently accepting applications for interested and experienced Industry Specialists/Firefighters from all regions of the Province of BC that are available to instruct / teach/evaluate in the following program areas:

- Pre-Employment Fire-Fighter Program (NFPA 1001)
- Industrial Firefighting Program (NFPA 1081)
- Live Fire I & II (NFPA 1403)
- Marine Firefighter Program (Transport Canada)
- Hazmat Program (NFPA 472)
- Technical Rescue (NFPA 1006)
- EVO (NFPA 1002)
- Fire Investigations (NFPA 1033)

Required Qualifications

Candidates applying for these positions will have an established reputation and proven record in the emergency service industry, including the skills and abilities necessary to instruct the curriculum. Candidates are required to have recognized training/education credentials equivalent to one level above the content area. A suitable combination of education and experience may be considered. Candidates must also meet the following additional requirements:

- Fire Service Instructor I (FSI 1), or equivalent
- High level of proficiency with using computer software as support tools in delivering instruction, such as Outlook, Excel, Word, and PowerPoint, and the internet
- Willingness to assume leadership roles
- Ability to work within a dynamic team in an exciting environment
- Commitment to a collaborative and innovative approach to education
- Flexible availability
- Minimum of 3-5 years of teaching experience, preferably with supervisory experience
- Excellent written and oral communication, interpersonal skills, and a desire to share knowledge with others

Additional Desired Qualifications

- Provincial Instructor Diploma or Professional Development Program would be an asset
- Curriculum development experience
- Knowledge of and experience using technology-based simulations
- On-Line Facilitation

Part-Time Sessional Instructors commencing September, 2015

Posting Date: June 30, 2015

Closing Date: September 11, 2015 (Extended)

Start Date: To be determined with successful candidates

Application: Please send a cover letter detailing your experience, as well as a complete academic CV and three references to:

Please submit complete applications quoting
Competition #15-21A to:

E-mail: hr@jibc.ca

For more information on the terms and conditions of this position, please feel free to contact:

Program Manager, Dave Wallack
Fire & Safety Division,
Justice Institute of British Columbia

E-mail: dwallack@jjbc.ca

Justice Institute of British Columbia is an equal opportunity employer and is interested in broadening the diversity of its staff. We encourage applications from visible minorities, Aboriginal peoples and persons with disabilities.

In advance, we would like to thank all applicants, but only those being considered for the position will be contacted.